It is hard for me to understand my government's instance on trying to punish an American company that has become a world wide standard for excellence. How does it help consumers to prevent a company from giving away features with their product? True, it hurts their competition because their competition did not think of it first.

I as one American Tax Payer, am tired of the government wasting my money going after a tax paying American Company.

Foreign government encourage and support their industries...only in America do we try to tear down what our citizens create and develop...under the banner of being too big and powerful. Other countries laugh at our Justice Department for doing their work for them in trying to eliminate our own American powerhouses.

In Japan Bill Gates would be declared a Living National Treasure...In Great Briton he would be knighted....here you are doing everything you can to destroy him!

Come to your common senses and enjoy and hail what Microsoft has accomplished.
